

The Joy of Work

Be grateful for the work you are given,
for the privilege of work is not gifted to all.

Hard work must be put in,
winter to spring,
spring to summer,
and summer to fall.

It is the bread you eat, the cup you drink from.

A chance for success, or failure succumb.

A path of life to live, to learn.

Do you understand, do you yearn?

These are the stepping stones to your destiny.

Understand when I say this:

Hard work is the sweetener of life,
it will tire you but it's bliss.

Good work is seldom easy.

Whether the task be great or small,
do not let your spirit be cast down lest you should fall.
for work is a joy to share with all.

No matter the condition,
there is one thing you can be thankful for:
through a difficult situation,
there is always the joy of work.
