

Robots as WORKERS!??

by Evelyn Marx

I don't think robots will ever truly obey,
Neither now nor in the future. The consequences
Might not be effective, but some might do OK.

Sometime in the future, robots might replace us in jobs.
But some might have bad personalities,
And act like total snobs.

On the other hand, some might be courageous and loyal, two good things to be.
But everyone breaks their promises,
Which surely you can see.

And suppose the power went off. This might be kind of crazy,
But things will be like the old days, which Proves that occasionally, all robots like being lazy.

We humans are better workers, even if robots are programmed with special abilities.
I think that we will always be better than robots,
Even if they can do special leaps, jumps, and agilities.
