

Machines and People

Machines and people
Working together
The machines work rhythmically
People work in sync

Machines work tirelessly,
Only stopping to be fixed or improved
People take breaks
And need pay

Machines groan and hum
All day, and all night
Their metallic arms move in sync
Creating and creating

Machines are the future
Already taking jobs for humans
More jobs will open
Some, not even possible for machines

People are needed to repair and manage
The machines that work so tirelessly
Machines and people need each other
To make and repair
