THE INTERCONNECTION OF CAREER DEVELOPMENT AND MENTAL HEALTH:

Strategies and Techniques to Promote Well-Being and Success

NCD GLOBAL CAREER DEVELOPMENT CONFERENCE

SAN DIEGO, CA • JUNE 26-28, 2024
PRE-CONFERENCE: JUNE 25, 2024

REGISTRATION BROCHURE

Join us in San Diego for the 2024 NCD A Conference!

We invite you to join us in San Diego for the 2024 Conference to engage in learning and contribute your knowledge and insight on “The Interconnection of Career Development and Mental Health: Strategies and Techniques to Promote Well-Being and Success”. Our keynote speakers and presenters will provide valuable perspectives on the significance and importance of the intersection.

Recognizing the significance and the importance of the interconnection enables us to examine work experiences, thoughts and feelings that impact behavior to define and redefine career choices, employment challenges and work/life balance. At every stage of one’s academic and professional life, there are a new set of challenges that arise. For most, learning the skills needed to overcome these challenges is crucial for progressing to the next level of their chosen career path. For some, this progression includes the added challenge of mental health concerns.

There are different levels of mental health issues/illnesses, uniquely experienced by individuals at mild to moderate and unfortunately severe levels of distress. The potential internal turmoil that mentally distressed people suffer can make coping with the multitasking nature of the job search both overwhelming and discouraging. Ethics and professional standards prevail that education and the encouragement of acceptance of mental illness in a general sense can alleviate the stigma that hurts so many people.

The collaboration of career development practitioners and mental health professionals helps the clients, students and our constituents define and ultimately redefine areas of their life that may be hindering them. Collectively we can create opportunities to encourage better career choices, healthier work environments, employee retention and smoother transitions from work life to retired life by providing hope and a sense of control and empowerment for those that we serve.

We encourage vendors to join us in San Diego to share new information and technologies to assist career development professionals in our work. Attendees will have many opportunities to visit, explore the exhibit hall, attend networking sessions, learn more about NCD A and our plans for the future! Please join us in San Diego in June 2024.

Carolyn Jones
NCD A President 2023-2024

KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

DR. SPENCER NILES

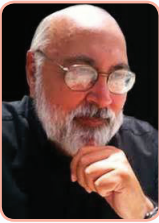

Spencer G. Niles is a professor of counselor education and co-director of the THRIVE Research and Intervention Center.

Dr. Spencer Niles served as Dean (2013-2020) for the School of Education at William & Mary where he was ranked as the 11th most influential dean of education in the United States. Previously, Niles served as Visiting Professor at Johns Hopkins University, Distinguished Professor and Department Head for Educational Psychology, Counseling, and Special Education at Penn State and a Fulbright Scholar at the Finnish Institute for Educational Research.

Niles also served as Professor and Assistant Dean in the School of Education, University of Virginia.

He is the current Editor for Counselor Education & Supervision and served as Editor for the Journal of Counseling & Development and The Career Development Quarterly. Niles has authored 155 publications and delivered over 170 presentations. He is the recipient of the American Counseling Association's Extended Research Award, David Brooks Distinguished Mentor Award, Thomas Hohenshil Publication Award, Thomas J. Sweeney Award for Visionary Leadership and Advocacy Award, and President's Award. He has also received Chi Sigma Iota International's Legacy Award, the Eminent Career Award from the National Career Development Association, the Outstanding Alumni Award from Penn State, and the Legacy Award from the University of Alabama. Niles is a Fellow of the American Counseling Association and the National Career Development Association. He was President of Chi Sigma Iota and is a Past-President of the National Career Development Association.

DR. MARK SAVICKAS

Dr. Mark Savickas is professor and chair emeritus of the Behavioral Sciences Department at the Northeast Ohio Medical University and teaches career counseling at Kent State University. He edited the Career Development Quarterly for seven years and the Journal of Vocational Behavior for seventeen years. He has received the Eminent Career Award from the National Career Development Association, the Leona Tyler Award for Outstanding Achievement in Counseling Psychology from the American Psychological Association, and the Distinguished Contributions Award from the European Society for Vocational Designing and Career Counseling. The University of Pretoria in South Africa and the University of Lisbon in Portugal have awarded him honorary doctorates. He holds fellowship in the National Career Development Association, American Counseling Association, American Psychological Association, American Psychological Society, and International Association of Applied Psychology.

DR. DAYNA JONES

Dr. Dayna Jones is a licensed clinical psychologist in South Florida. She has been practicing for 10 years as a psychologist working in various settings including community mental health, prison and long and short-term psychiatric hospitals. She is the owner of Jones Psychological Health Services, LLC. As the sole psychologist in her private practice, she works with adults suffering from mild to severe psychological distress. She worked throughout her educational endeavors, mostly with severe mentally ill populations. She made it a point to gain exposure to the various levels of care in the field of psychology to enhance her knowledge of the human experience from different lenses.

Dr. Jones' commitment to her clients and unwavering desire to assist and guide them toward their optimal living experience allows her the ability to understand how identity, history, desire, motivation, circumstances, and overall psychological health impact career choices. Discussing, exploring, and processing through job related experiences, thoughts and emotions are a large part of her daily sessions with clients. Making it a point to connect personal and professional experiences to how a person is feeling in their life at any given time is essential in striking a balance; where planning, joy, contentment, validation, and hope can reside. She believes that this balance should be a priority for both mental health and career development professionals and that working together consultatively will allow for people to live more satisfying lives as well as improve productivity.

DR. TOMMY SOWERS

The Honorable Tommy Sowers, Ph.D., serves as President of flyExclusive expanding on a successful career in entrepreneurship, academia, the military and public service. Sowers most recently served as the Southeast region lead for innovation for the U.S.

Department of Defense and taught innovation and entrepreneurship at Duke University. Prior to this, he co-founded and was Chief Executive Officer of Durham and San Francisco-based GoldenKey and was a management consultant at McKinsey & Company. A U.S. Army Green Beret combat veteran, Sowers previously served as an Assistant Secretary of the Department of Veterans Affairs. He is an instrument rated pilot and lives in Kinston, NC with his wife Ericka, four daughters and two dogs.

DR. Y. BARRY CHUNG

A native of Hong Kong, Dr. Y. Barry Chung received his A.M. and Ph.D. in counseling psychology from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign, and his B.A. in educational psychology and counseling from the National Taiwan Normal University. Prior to his current appointment as Dean of the College of Education at San Diego State University, he was Associate Dean for Graduate Studies in the School of Education at Indiana University Bloomington. He also served as Department Chair at Northeastern University, and Professor and Program Director at Georgia State University.

Dr. Chung's research interests include career development, multicultural counseling, sexual orientation and gender diversity issues. He has presented and published widely on these topics. He was appointed to 10 journal editorial boards internationally and was Executive Editor of the American Psychological Association (APA) Division 44 Book Series. Dr. Chung was President of the National Career Development Association, Society of Counseling Psychology, and Council of Counseling Psychology Training Programs. He also served on APA's Board of Educational Affairs, Board for the Advancement of Psychology in the Public Interest, Membership Board (as Chair), Council of Representatives, Finance Committee, and Policy and Planning Board. Dr. Chung is a Fellow of APA (Divisions 17, 44, 45, and 52), Asian American Psychological Association, American Counseling Association, and National Career Development Association. He received the Eminent Career Award from the National Career Development Association in 2019, the highest honor of the Association.
